

To whom it may concern:

Applied Electronics Corporation
President & CEO Masahiro Yano

NTT Docomo, SoftBank, au by KDDI, EMOBILE, WILLCOM
Correspondence to Hi-Speed Communication Terminals of 5 Mobile Careers:
GRAND BERRY 2008-Release 2

June 24, 2009, Applied Electronics Corporation (Head office: Shinagawa-ku, Tokyo; Representative: Masahiro Yano) announces the release of GRAND BERRY 2008-Release 2 which upgraded GRAND BERRY 2008 (Embedded operating system product optimized to Thin Client).

In this time, GRAND BERRY 2008 Release-2 has achieved to be correspondent to Hi-Speed Communication Terminals of all 5 Mobile Careers (NTT Docomo, au by KDDI, EMOBILE, WILLCOM) in Japan.

The main functions newly added by GRAND BERRY-Release 2 are as follows.

1. Correspondence Expansion to Data Communication Cards

(The "☆" sign indicates correspondence of new one in this time. ★: Hi-Speed Specification)

Mobile Career	Data Communication Card	Port Type
au (KDDI)	W04K★, W05K★	PCMCIA
EMOBILE	D01NE★, D02NE★, D21NE★☆	PCMCIA
	D02HW★, D12HW★☆ D11LC★☆, D12LC★☆	USB
NTT docomo	N2502★☆, P2403	PCMCIA
	A2502★☆	USB
SoftBank	C01SI★	PCMCIA
	C01SW★☆, C01LC★☆	USB
WILLCOM	AX530IN★, AX520N WS014IN (with W-SIM RX420)	PCMCIA
	HX001IN★☆, WS002IN (with W-SIM RX420)	USB

2. Correspondence Expansion to VPN System: Improvement of PPTP

It has achieved to be correspondent also to the connection with Windows 2003 Server as PPTP server in addition to the connection with YAMAHA RT58i.

Please see the following site for detail.

■About GRAND BERRY

<http://www.aec1984.com/grandberry/our-products-outline>

GRAND BERRY is registered trademarks of Applied Electronics Corporation in Japan and other country.